

A MUSICAL ROMP THROUGH WOMEN'S HISTORY!

Written and Performed by Gerri Gribi
With additional songs at whim...

Ma Ho • Traditional Cheyenne lullaby

Equinoxial & Phoebe • A frontier husband and wife swap roles for the day, with humorous results.

When I Was A Fair Maid • A young woman disguises herself as a man to serve in the British Navy.

The Cruel Youth • In this unusual murder ballad, a woman outwits her assailant.

Hushabye (All the Pretty Little Horses) • An African American lullaby/protest song of the antebellum South.

Oh Dear, What Can the Matter Be? • A Suffrage song, with words by L. May Wheeler.

Federation Song - Sung by the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs in the late 1890's. Words by Susie I. Lankford Shorter.

Single Life • Banned music from 1925!

Cowboy's Sweetheart • Patsy Montana's 1935 hit which opened the door for female country artists.

Whole People • A song celebrating the strength of our differences, written by Beth Stiver.

Grandma Slid Down the Mountain • Yodeling 101!

A unique musician, historian and storyteller, Gerri Gribi has toured North America for nearly 25 years.

She is a frequent guest on TV and radio, and her music has been featured in a variety of media outlets, including ABC Prime Time Live. She has lent her creative hand to numerous projects, including writing and performing music for award-winning documentaries.

Her newest CD, The Womansong Collection, has been widely and enthusiastically reviewed, both at home and abroad. She's been ranked among the Top Ten Artists by the National Women's Radio Play List.

She writes about topics in women's history and music, and has been published in academic journals such as Minerva and Feminist Collections Quarterly, as well as popular periodicals and newspapers.

She maintains two award-winning annotated websites:
CreativeFolk.com
AfroAmericanHeritage.com

Most songs except "Grandma" are available on The Womansong Collection, which features 25 woman-positive folk songs. Gerri has also recorded Home For Christmas, and two tapes of children's songs: It's a Dog's Life, and Best of Friends (where you will find "Grandma"!)

Find her at iTunes, Amazon and all major online outlets!

Gerri Gribi (920)437-7373
gerri@creativefolk.com
CreativeFolk.com